Stewards

The people to call when you need help.

Stewards are trained members who volunteer their time to enforce our contract with OHSU. They provide you with representation and answer your calls and emails for help. You should contact a steward by calling the Know Zone or using the eZone. Messages are checked daily and a steward will be assigned to help you. You have the right to union representation!

BridgeBuilders - Conflict Resolution

This Local 328 program is designed to help workers in conflict receive assistance from a member trained in conflict resolution. The program is confidential and designed to help create an improved workplace by reducing workplace hostility. We work in cooperation with OHSU to make this program available, but results of interventions are not shared with OHSU.
